rediscover this quintessential 90's screwball romp that the LA Weekly declared "A bright, sharp comedy-drama with funky retro flair to spare."

Take a hilarious, trailblazing ride with three off-beat Asian American dudes on the day-glo streets of Venice, California.

Isaac (Dustin Nguyen) is a coffeehouse romantic who falls for Thaise (Tamlyn Tomita), a beautiful femme fatale on the run from her dangerous past. Slim (Darion Basco) is a wayward Rasta who must wheel and deal out of some serious trouble involving a notorious local "gangster" and his prized lowrider. Troy (Garrett Wang) is an actor trying to balance his career and his girlfriend, when he lands a starring role in a big Hollywood movie that changes his life.

Together these three friends discover that in order to find what's really missing in their lives, sometimes means giving up what seems most important.
